

MARTIN HAS RESIGNED

And W. E. Connelley Takes Place as Secretary Historical Society.

George W. Martin has resigned the secretaryship of the State Historical society, and the state executive council elected William E. Connelley of Topeka as his successor. Martin has been unable to look after the work of the department for several months because of his failing health and the work has been handled by Connelley. The services of George W. Martin continued over a period of 14 years and following his resignation he was made secretary emeritus, a life appointment without pay.

For more than 50 years Martin has been active in the affairs of Kansas. He came to the new state in 1857, was in the midst of the early day strife of the territorial days and assisted in the organization of the new state. Martin is a native Pennsylvanian and came direct from his native state to Kansas. His first newspaper work was on the Leocompton Sun. In 1861 he founded the Junction City Union. He served four terms as state printer and in 1888 established the Kansas City, Kan., Daily Gazette. Following the death of Franklin G. Adams in 1899, Martin was appointed secretary of the Historical society and served until his resignation his week.

William E. Connelley, appointed as Martin's successor, is a well known authority on Kansas history and several of his biographical sketches have received wide recognition. He came to Kansas from Kentucky in 1881, lived for a time on a farm near Bonner Springs and later was elected county clerk of Wyandotte county. Connelley's interest in the Wyandotte Indians resulted in his adoption of the name of the tribe and as a result of his experiences at the mouth of the Kaw, Connelley wrote a book on Wyandotte folk here which received wide circulation.

for the state senators and representatives was kept in cold storage during three sessions of the legislature. The 1913 legislature could have submitted the amendment again. But it was a Democratic legislature. The state platform said something about reducing the taxes downward and because some of the members were inclined to consider the platform promises as sacred and binding, the plan to increase the law makers' pay never reached the reading clerk's desk. They were frank to admit that they should have more money. Next winter some of them propose to try to get it—for future members. The senate holds over another two years and the fight for the increased pay will probably come from that house. Several of the 1913 representatives will also try to return to Topeka next winter. Their experience of 1913 was that they drew $150 for a 58-hour working day session—still fresh in their memory and it will probably require an iron clad, copper riveted, diamond proof party platform to induce them to vote against the measure.

But the added pay is a long distance ahead. Should the amendment be adopted by a two-thirds vote of the legislature, the state platform and later be adopted in the election. It would afford no relief until 1917. Members of the 1916 session must serve on the per diem schedule which was adopted before the high cost of living was discovered and railroad passes were abolished.

Fourth District Mooses. At least six of the ten counties in the fourth district will put Progressive county tickets in the field this year, according to the schedule which was adopted before the high cost of living was discovered and railroad passes were abolished.

White's Welcome to Sapp. The other day "Col." Bill Sapp of Galena, Democratic national committee member, went to Emporia to attend the Lyon county Democratic love feast. William Allen White, Progressive national committeeman for Kansas, lives in Emporia and in an editorial headed, "Welcome to Our City," White extended the following greeting to the Galena Democratic leader and wearer of the "kyscraper" silk hat and frock coat:

"Hon. Bill Plug, with his famous Sapp hat, is in the midst of attending the Democratic banquet at Emporia, Kan., where he will be met by the Progressive Democracy under the leadership of such radicals as Clark and Underwood, who will finally be able to overcome the reactionary tendencies of the Wilson administration, and lead the country back to a repeal of the Missouri compromise and the bill of rights, known as the 'true Jeffersonian democracy' which will come into its own."

"Hon. Plugbill, whose famous Hat-sapp has been the rallying banner of the Democratic plegiad for 30 years, administration should do something to adjust the high cost of living to the low rate of pay, and advise a commission on the subject."

Reorganization Date Uncertain. The date for the reorganization of the Republican state committee is a matter of doubt and uncertainty. Secretary J. C. Gafford has received news from a third of the counties in the state and the personnel of the reorganized county committees is undetermined until all of the counties are heard from.

"Just as soon as I get returns from all of the counties, I will call the committee," said Gafford. "But there are nearly a third of the counties yet to be heard from. Some of the county chairmen have been slow in sending me their reports and I can take no action until the revised list of county chairmen and precinct committeemen is completed. I have no definite idea at this time as to when the committee meeting will be held."

A Boom for Britton. It is probable that Kansas Democrats will elect Frank L. Britton as president of their state club at the annual banquet in Topeka next Monday. Britton is an Osaage county man and aggressive and popular with the party leaders in the state. Two years ago he was the nominee for lieutenant governor and he has been a national again in August. His friends are now booming his candidacy for president of the state organization to succeed Miles H. Mulroy who was elected a year ago.

No Time for Dodging. Clyde H. Knox in the Independence Reporter, declares that the Republican party in Kansas must stand for something this year and should write the principles known as the "standards" after the candidates are nominated. To dodge the pre-primary convention, says Knox, means defeat to the state ticket. Unless the proposed principles are known, the party will be for all concerned.

The Progressives at Topeka did exactly what the Republicans should do—find out what they stood for and then showed the courage to let those principles known. It stands for this have the Progressive platform before them from now until the primary, and if they like it they will go into the primary and demand the ballot of that party. In a word, they will become Progressives. And during all this time no one will know or can know exactly what the Republicans stand for. Unless the proposed antiprimary convention is held and a platform adopted, the voters will be seats reserved for them on the floor. Admission to the galleries was by card extended only to members of the house and the more intimate friends of the dead statesman.

Hundreds Turned Away. One gallery was reserved for the use of those invited by the president and the vice president. Hundreds of those who came to pay homage to the dead statesman's memory were turned away. When Vice President Marshall walked slowly to his seat and called the senate to order the short and simple service form, Mr. Marshall, in a voice full of feeling and lowered almost to a whisper, said:

"Members, the hour has arrived at which, in accordance with the orders of the senate, the final ceremonies over the body of Augustus Octavius Bacon, late senator from Georgia and an unusually distinguished member of this body, are to be observed. In conformity to custom and in token of our common faith, the chaplain of the senate will offer a prayer and God the Father, the Redeemer, and God the Comforter."

The Rev. Forest J. Prettyman, chaplain of the senate, offered prayer. "We bless Thee for the life and work of this great man. We praise Thee that the hand of death was not laid upon him until he had spoken his message to the world and had sent forth the influence of a devoted life into the soul of our nation."

The Episcopal burial service was pronounced by Bishop Francis Hardin, of the Protestant Episcopal church, and a benediction followed by the chaplain. After the lapse of probably a minute, the vice president spoke again:

"Into the loving hands of the committee of congress and the officers of the senate," he said, "we consign the mortal body of our well beloved senator, to be by them conveyed to his home in the state of Georgia, to be deposited in its final resting place. May his labors in the cause of educational liberty long bless the republic."

Members of the capitol police force bore the body back to the marble room, where it remained until escorted to the railway station for the journey to Atlanta, where it will lie in state until the funeral is held.

The funeral party that accompanied the body south included the committee appointed by the two houses of congress, the Georgia delegation, the secretary of the senate, Senators Smith of Georgia, Tillman, Overman, Chilton, Fletcher, Pomeroy, Thomas, O'Gorman, Vanderman, Gallinger, Root, Nelson, Brandegee and Page; Representatives Ferris, Willis, Mann, Payne, Gardner, Anthony, Dyer and Prouty, and the Georgia delegation, including Representatives Edwards, Turner, Crisp, Henderson, Howard, Lett, Lee, Tribble, Bell, Hardwick, Walter and Hughes.

NEW CONFERENCE.

Eastern Kansas Colleges Would Withdraw From State Organization.

The athletic conference composed of a membership of Kansas colleges in all parts of the state has proven unsatisfactory and a meeting of representatives of the schools in the eastern part of the state was held in Topeka Monday to formulate plans for a division or abandonment of the Kansas conference. The schools including Washburn, St. Mary's, state normal, College of Emporia and the University of Oklahoma, among others, are expected to join the new conference.

The meeting was held at the Central Y. M. C. A. and the following schools were represented: Washburn, State Normal, College of Emporia, St. Mary's and Ottawa university. Baker university also was present. The meeting was held at the Central Y. M. C. TODAY'S MARKET REPORTS.

Chicago, Feb. 17.—WHEAT—Higher quotations at European centers favored an advancing market today for wheat. The strength of trans-Atlantic prices was considered especially significant as prevailing in the west and a substantial increase of the European wheat supply. The market in Chicago opened 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ up and after a brief dip, showed a rally all around.

Sales here and elsewhere to seaboard ports had an additional boost. The influence also did an impressive demand from domestic mills. The close was steady at a net advance of 1/4¢ to 1/2¢. CORN—Corrected, chiefly by the firmness of wheat. Opening prices were unchanged to 1/2¢ higher, and there was a subsequent further gain. There was some demand to put country roads into less favorable condition, acted against the bears. The close was steady, 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ above last night.

OATS—Not much demand developed for oats. PROVISIONS—Previous gains were governed by the course of grain, wheat, and corn at first being succeeded by a moderate setback. First transactions varied from a decline to an advance of 1/4¢ with a later fall of 1/4¢ from top figures.
